

M-Cushion

Self contained single patient positioning cushions

This polyurethane fully sealed foam cushion molds around the patient after activation of the internal components. It maintains its formed shape during all sessions of radiotherapy treatment, enabling reproducibility of patient positioning. The M-Cushion is available in the following shapes and sizes:

